John Noble are specialists in poultry farm lighting and heating

If you manage a poultry farm in Scotland and need electrical lighting or repairs or need a more efficient heating system then talk to John Noble Electrical Contractors about a site survey.

Poultry Farm Wiring Services

For many years, John Noble Electrical Contractors have served the people in poultry farming. We have a team of security cleared electrical engineers that are experience in dealing with all poultry farm wiring and fuse boxes. If you are experiencing problems such as a fuse box tripping every time you put the poultry farming heater on then give us a call. We will investigate the source of the electrical problem and recommend the best solution.

Earthing Upgrades

If your poultry farm is not earthed correctly, people and livestock could get electrocuted. Without an earth connection, the safety switches will not work and an electrical fault could cause a poultry farm building or appliances to become 'live' as the current flows to earth. Earth stakes often do not work because the earth stake is corroded or damaged. Don't risk lives by having a faulty earth in your poultry farm building. It is best to get your poultry farm checked by a qualified electrician.

External Lighting Systems

There are many lighting and heating products to choose from. If you are in doubt about installing your new lights or heating in your poultry farm, call us to get advice on installation. If you are thinking about getting external lighting for your poultry farm then you may need special wiring to the outside of your building. Whatever lighting you are installing or removing from your poultry farm it is always advisable to talk it through with a qualified electrician. This could save you time and money.
